THIS is a capital tale, fraught with deeper meanings and more careful analysis and understanding of life and people than the thoughtful reader would expect to find in a murder mystery. Dr. Neeley has treated the psychological factors determining human behavior with accuracy and precision. It is a rich and colorful story of action, jealousy, villainy, murder, clever sleuthing, deep and abiding love and loyalty.

Doctor Neeley is a native of Utah, long connected with education in that state. She is a graduate of Utah State Agricultural College.

Association President

Asa Bullen, '10, prominent Logan attorney and lecturer in law at the College, was elected to the presidency of the Alumni Association at the annual business meeting, at commencement time.

Mr. Bullen served on the Executive committee during the past year and has always been an interested and loyal member of the Association. He succeeds Robert L. Judd, '09, Salt Lake City, who served capably and well for two years.

Those elected to the Executive Committee for one year, beginning July 1, include Professor Byron Alder, '12; Professor L. R. Humpherys, '12; D. A. Skeen, '09, Salt Lake City, and Orville L. Lee, '10. Mr. Judd will remain on the Executive committee as an Ex-officio member.

The annual fall meeting of the Alumni Council will be held on the morning of Homecoming, October 28.

Bulletin Notice

The officers of the Salt Lake City chapter of the Alumni Association are planning a rally and program on Wednesday, November 22nd, previous to the annual "Turkey Day" game between Utah State and University of Utah.

According to Allan West, '32, chapter president, plans are well under way for an outstanding evening. Further details will be announced later on by chapter officers as to the time and place for this "Aggie" get-together.

Alumni in Boise and vicinity will be interested to know that Utah State plays University of Idaho at Moscow, on November 4th.

Visits in Utah

Russell L. Maughan, '17, major in the United States Army Air corps, was in command of a group of new pursuit planes that stopped over in Salt Lake City in July.

Major Maughan was the first man to span the continent between sunrise and sunset, and holds the distinguished flying cross. He was Utah's Ace of the American Air corps during the World War, bringing down four enemy planes. He won the Pulitzer speed trophy in 1922, averaging 205 miles per hour, in a test run.

Major Maughan is commander of the Thirty-third squadron at Langley Field, Virginia, and was ordered west with the planes to Sacramento, California, where he turned them over to the Eighth Pursuit group for further testing.

Writes Book

Dr. Deta Peterson Neeley, '32, recently added more glory to her already successful and amazing career, when "A Candidate for Hell," a stirring mystery novel written by her, was released this summer by the Meador Publishing Company, Boston, Massachusetts.

Dr. Neeley was born in Bear River City, Utah, and after completing her training for a normal degree, she taught in the elementary schools of Utah. From 1923 to 1928 she was primary supervisor, Millard county School district, Utah, and from 1928 to 1931 she was elementary supervisor in the same school district. In 1932 and 1933 she received her B.S., and Masters degrees from the College. She was a reading demonstrator for the Macmillan Company in Montana during 1933. During the years of 1934 to 1937, Dr. Neeley attended the University of California where she studied for her doctorate, which she received in 1937, in Education.

Literary critics have the following to say about Dr. Neeley and her book. "A Candidate for Hell" is a murder mystery that is colorful in its action, jealousy, villainy, murder, clever sleuthing, deep and abiding love, and loyalty. The author has treated the psychological factors determining human behavior with accuracy and precision, and her careful analysis and understanding of life and people gives the story a much deeper meaning than the thoughtful reader would expect to find in a murder mystery."

Dr. Neeley began writing after receiving her doctors degree in 1937. Her first attempts were in the field of education and she wrote eight articles, all of which were accepted for publication. The mystery novel had always intrigued her because it presented a definite problem to be solved, caused her to start writing fiction.

The planning and actual writing of the book took approximately six months. Although Dr. Neeley has discovered a real challenge, and an interesting one in writing, she has not given up plans of continuing in the field of education.

Dr. Neeley is the wife of Glen Neeley, '33, who received his master's degree recently from the University of California, and is now completing work for his doctorate.

They are collaborating on a historical novel based on old picturesque Virginia City during its boom years, 1847 to 1865. This book is well on the way to completion and they hope to have it ready for publication this fall.

Copies of "A Candidate for Hell" have been purchased by the Alumni Association and turned over to the College library for use by Alumni, students, and faculty.

A. W. S. President

Marjorie Seeley

One of the outstanding organizations on the campus and one that contributes much to the happiness and well being of the women undergraduates, is the Associated Women Students organization.

This group sponsors get-acquainted parties and gives women students an opportunity to get in the "spotlight" of campus activities throughout the school year.

Completes Doctorate

Thelma Fogelberg, '29, received her Doctor of Letters degree on May 31, from the Sorbonne, University of Paris, France. She received honorable mention for outstanding work done during the past year. Dr. Fogelberg received her Master of Arts Degree from the University of Southern California.

This is not the first time for Dr. Fogelberg to study in France. She spent two years at the University of Nancy, France, where she received honorable mention for her two years' study.

After completing her work, Dr. Fogelberg remained in France and took advantage of the cultural opportunities that Paris has to offer. She heard the great French pianist Cortot and the Russian violincellist Piatigorsky. She left Paris in August and after visiting the New York World's Fair, returned to Logan and her duties at the College in September. The Association officers wish to take this opportunity to congratulate you, Dr. Fogelberg, on your past accomplishments and particularly upon your most recent success.

This year the organization has as its president, Marjorie Seeley of Castle Dale, Utah. Marjorie is a senior and during the past three years has proved herself capable of her position. She and members of a committee have many enjoyable afternoons and evenings planned for the entertainment of the new and former women students. The first function of this group socially, will be the annual A. W. S. ball in October, at which time the girls "date the boys."

Homecoming

1938 Homecoming Float

If the letters and personal inquiries by Alumni and former students during the past few weeks seeking information in regard to the date for the annual Homecoming celebration is any indication for a large attendance, then this year's two-day program will surpass all other occasions. Hundreds of Alumni have written the Association office asking for the date. Here it is—October 27 and 28.

Members of the first class to the class of '39, will return to the campus to renew old ties and take part in many of the planned activities.

Colorado State, a traditional foe of the Blue and White followers, will be met on the gridiron as the main attraction and as a climax to the festivities, Saturday afternoon. The Colorado Aggies are being hailed by sport scribes as the "dark horse" team of the Big Seven Conference and will be again coached by Harry Hughes, who just started his twenty-ninth year as head coach.

Since 1912, when the two Aggie squads first lined up against each other, twenty-one games have been played. Utah State has won nine and lost eleven to their foes. In 1934 the only tie game was played when both teams came off the field with twenty-one points each. These two teams have met on many Homecoming occasions and fans and followers always remain until the final whistle.

The Homecoming committee, under the chairmanship of David G. Hurren, '27, has completed plans for a downtown rally, parade, Ag. show, campus tours, dances and many other events that will appeal to all.

On Friday, October 27, an Alumni-Student rally will be held downtown, followed by fireworks and a rally dance. On the following morning, bands, fraternities, clubs, and other organizations will parade on Main street and compete for various Homecoming day trophies. Following the parade the sophomores and freshmen will clash in a tug-of-war. The flag-raising ceremony will be conducted at 2:00 p. m., with the kickoff coming promptly at 2:30 p. m.

During the celebration, Alumni and former students headquarters will be in the Commons building. Tours of the campus will be conducted by members of Blue Key and Inter-Collegiate Knights both days. This will afford every returning former student an opportunity to view the progress made by the Institution during the past few years. Fraternities, sororities, and clubs are planning special breakfasts and luncheons for their former members on Saturday.

When you return to the campus this year, you are going to see new lawn, shrubs, and trees at the foot of the hill, where the famous "trail" begins, the new Women's residence hall and field house. You will also be amazed at the marked changes made in "old haunts" and the unsurpassed beauty of the campus. You will be proud of your Alma Mater, and happy at having taken the time out from daily routine to visit in Logan once again. The Homecoming committee invites you and bids you welcome to another grand reunion of Utah State former students.

Organizations combining to put over the celebration are the Alumni Association, Student Body, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, "A" Men's organization, Elks, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Guard, Athletic Council of the College, and the R. O. T. C.

A major feature of the two-day program will be the Ag. show held in the Smart gymnasium. This show has received praise from State, City, and County officials as an outstanding success and of great value to the school and the state. The show is sponsored by the school of Agriculture and exhibit booths are created by all schools and departments on the campus. It is free to all visitors and opens Friday at noon.

"A" Men Plan Meeting

A meeting of the members of the "A" men's club will be held on the morning of Homecoming. Plans and various activities for the coming year will be outlined at that time, according to Virgil Norton, '26, president of the organization.

"Virg" and his fellow officers urge all members to attend this annual meeting. Notices and invitations will be mailed to all members in the near future.

American University Women

The College was given approval by the American Association of University Women, at the biennial National Convention, held in June in Denver, Colorado.

This approval means that women graduates of the College are eligible to membership in the Association in communities where the organization is functioning.

Ogden Chapter Elects

At the annual spring party of the Ogden Alumni chapter, held at the Ogden Country Club, Rudy Van Kampen, '34, was elected president and Athleen Farr Budge, '34, was elected vice-president. Others elected include Nat Taggart, '33, treasurer; Kenneth Brown, '33, secretary; and Blaine Bachman, '23, Russell Croft, '26, Lee Skanchy, Weldon Burnham, '34, and Ralph Sanford, '23, were elected to the Executive Committee.

The party was very well attended and a credit to the Ogden chapter members.

BEAR RIVER MIGRATORY BIRD REFUGE

Too few people realize that within an easy hour's drive of the Utah State campus lies one of the most important and strategically located migratory bird refuges in the world. What was once a swampy marsh land surrounded by extensive alkaline mud flats at the mouth of the Bear River, sixteen miles west of Brigham City, has now been transformed into a permanent haven and stopping place for thousands of migratory birds. Over two hundred different species of birds, which are either indigenous in Utah or visit the refuge in the process of their migratory flights, have been recorded.

Situated on the flat banks of the Bear River is the picturesque headquarters of the refuge—really a self-sustaining community with its own heat, water, sewage disposal, power and telephone systems. The headquarters form the point of entry to the 64,000 acre tract of land and water that, with its prolific bird life, awes some ten or twelve thousand visitors a year.

The refuge is under the supervision of the Bureau of Biological Survey, recently transferred from the United States Department of Agriculture to the Department of the Interior.

Vanez T. Wilson, '19, courteous and capable superintendent, is in direct charge of all operations, which consists of the management of eight regular government employees and two hundred C.C.C. boys, who have been assigned to work on the refuge.

V. T. Wilson Examining Sego Pond Weed

Mr. Wilson has been associated with the project since its instigation in 1927, and has been the chief moving force in developing and organizing the refuge, first as engineer and later as superintendent.

Five units stretch for miles to the north, south, and west of the headquarters. Each unit is a 5,000 acre pond of fresh water surrounded by man-made dykes about twenty feet in width at the top, over which has been constructed a graveled roadway. Over the surface of these units one sees countless thousands of birds swimming and feeding in the shallow water. The water is purposely kept at a maximum depth of about two feet to provide easy access to the beds of stringy sego pond weed, the chief food of the various kinds of ducks and geese. Besides these five units, all under the control of the refuge engineers, there are thousands of acres of adjacent marsh land which form nesting, cover and feed ground for the birds. This acreage will ultimately be dyked and controlled in the same manner as the units, provided water is made available. At present the scarcity of water reduces the feasibility of additional units, there being hardly enough fresh water to supply the present demand particularly in dry seasons. It is possible that this scarcity of fresh water is aiding the spread of botulism among the water fowl, particularly the ducks.

This disease, somewhat enigmatic in its functioning, is not confined to this area alone. Constant research on the part of the Government men is reducing the mortality among birds throughout the United States. Botulism, somewhat similar to ptomain poisoning in human beings, affects the stomach of a bird through a bacillic action, and results in ultimate paralysis. However, if the sick bird is discovered before complete paralysis is developed, and given proper treatment, it is possible to save its life.

This treatment consists of placing the sick birds in the Bird Hospital at Refuge Headquarters where they are given internal injections of potassium permanganate and intravenous injections of glucose by the "Quack Doctors" as they are called. When the birds are able to swim and feed themselves, they are tagged, and placed in the fresh water hospital pond, from which they are at liberty to fly back to their habitat. Most of this work is done by the C.C.C. boys (see cut) who make daily rounds of the marshes and units gathering up the sick birds.

This hospital, along with the other buildings, an office, research laboratory, three homes, power plant, water distillery, and equipment sheds, is located at the refuge headquarters. In the center of this particular plot stands a one-hundred foot steel observation tower, from which visitors and workmen may view almost the entire project. The buildings themselves are comparatively new structures made of cinder block and painted an attractive grey with red tile roofs. These neat buildings and their well-kept grounds give the headquarters an appearance of efficiency and orderliness that strikes the eye of the visitor immediately upon entrance.

Especially noticeable on the grounds is the absence of any apparent means of communication or light and heat production. All, however, are ingeniously arranged for through the plentiful supply of natural gas that is found in that vicinity. Through the utilization of this gas, all light, heat, and power needs are taken care of, as well as the water supply and sewage disposal. All light and power lines are under ground, as are the sewage, water, and gas mains. This useful and plentiful supply of gas was discovered while drilling for culinary water and was found to be in such a state of purification that it was possible to use it direct from the well to run the two gasoline engines in the power plant.

The refuge not only serves as a haven for all types of water fowl, but the land adjacent to it is well known throughout the Pacific coast area for its excellent duck hunting facilities and for its use as the site of no less than six duck clubs, all of which find adequate game during the season. Sections of the refuge proper are also turned over to hunters during the hunting season.

"Quack Doctors"

Returns to Practice

Dr. R. O. Porter, '12, well known throughout the State and especially in Cache Valley where he has practiced Medicine and Surgery for more than 20 years, returned in May to his practice after an absence of two and one-half years.

During the time he was away Dr. Porter underwent a serious operation and later did post-graduate work in the San Francisco hospital. He was forced to retire in December 1936 as a result of a serious injury to his spine. For several months the outcome of his condition was in doubt and at times fear was felt for his recovery. However, as the result of a highly technical operation on the spinal cord at the University of California hospital the cause of his trouble was found and successfully removed.

After a few months convalescence, Dr. Porter decided to further extend his post-graduate training and research in eye, ear, nose, and throat and henceforth devote his entire practice to that specialty. He received a much coveted appointment in the teaching clinic of the University of California in San Francisco with instruction by the leading specialists of the post-graduate divisions of both the University of California and Stanford Medical Schools. There he spent 18 months in specialized training.

The last year was devoted exclusively to the diagnosis, treatment, and surgery of the eye, including refraction, fitting of glasses, and orthoptic training for poor vision and weak muscles.

By virtue of his background and training and a long experience in the practice of Medicine and Surgery in their general branches, Dr. Porter is unusually well fitted for the specialty for which he has prepared. He graduated from Rush Medical College and has spent a year in the Harvard Medical School and in Northwestern Medical School, and later one year in the eye, ear, nose, and throat department of Salt Lake County Hospital in addition to several shorter periods of study in this specialty in the east.

After receiving his medical degree, Dr. Porter was appointed Professor of Physiology and medical supervisor of students at the College and originated the health department. Three years later he left the College service to devote full time to the practice of Medicine and Surgery in Logan, and the organization and founding of the Cache Valley General Hospital. In 1923 he was appointed Dean of the Medical School of the University of Utah, which position he held for six years. He was instrumental in getting the Medical School on the accredited list of "American Medical Colleges" with an "A" rating and membership in its association. During this period Dr. Porter was devoting a great deal of time to the study and practice of eye, ear, nose, and throat and in 1929 he resigned from the deanship to join the staff of the newly erected Cache Valley General Hospital.

Dr. Porter reports that he had two tempting opportunities to remain in practice in San Francisco, but the lure of Cache Valley and countless friends and a desire of his family to return determined his course of action. With greatly increased space and entirely new and up-to-date equipment, the Doctor has just opened his offices in the Cache Valley Hospital building.

Dr. Porter was president of the Alumni Association two years, in 1931 and in 1932.

The present officers welcome the return of Dr. Porter and his family to Logan and wish him continued good health.

Fortieth Alumni Banquet

The College library main reading room was again the scene of the annual Alumni banquet, at which time three hundred and fifty graduates and former students attended.

Centering around the 25th anniversary of the Extension Service, and honoring the class of '39 and the class of '14, the banquet was declared an outstanding success by those who attended.

John T. Caine III, '03, now associated with the Union Stock Yards in Chicago, contributed much in his official role as that of toastmaster. W. W. Owens, '16, was master of ceremonies, and toasts were given by the following: Mrs. Rena Maycock Badger, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Ethel B. Lund, '24, Brigham City; L. M. Winsor, '11, Salt Lake City; Gronway R. Parry, '14, Cedar City, president of that class, and Robert Simpson, president of the '39 class. Mr. Parry presented a group picture of the class of '14, taken at the 1914 commencement, to the Alumni Association for the office.

Special guests included W. L. Lloyd, representative of the Extension Service Division of Washington, D. C.; Director William Peterson, President Elmer G. Peterson, and Dr. R. J. Evans.

Sports Review

CARL SMITH ~ CAPTAIN

Determined to erase the title of "up and down team," head coach E. L. Romney and a group of fifty grid hopefuls, have been working out twice daily since the opening of fall football camp, September 10th. The title was given the team last year by sports writers after the young sophomore team upset almost every prediction that was made about them previous to their games. When they were selected to win they were beaten and when they "couldn't possibly win," they emerged victorious. With last year behind them and a new season in the offing, the team that will represent Utah State will again be a question mark with possibilities better for living up to predictions about their winning.

Graduation took such key men as Captain Cliff Poole and Tracy Maero, fullbacks; John Ahern, tackle; Ira Winger and Delmar Miller, halfbacks. These men will be replaced by lettermen of last year and sophomores up from the freshmen rank of last fall.

Led by Captain Carl Smith of Preston, Idaho, those in suits are working hard and have a spirit that is unbeatable. Carl will lead his teammates from the left tackle post, where last season he made a name for himself in the conference. The center of the line will be well taken care of by all-conference Murray Maughan, with Ken Shulsen, Jordan and David Clark of Oakley, Idaho, as capable reserves. Both guard positions will be filled by lettermen of last year in Joe Woodward, South Cache, and Warren O'Gara, Nephi. However, at the present writing, such men as Glenn Jackson, South Cache; Samuel Merrill, North Cache; Richard Griffin, Bear River; Fred Banks, Branch Agricultural College; Elmer Green, and Rex Hill, Davis, are fighting to replace the two lettermen.

Big Jack Moore of West High in Salt Lake City; Wayne Steed, Ogden, and Eddie Penn of New York City, are scrapping for the right tackle post. All three of the boys are juniors and tip the beam around the two hundred pound mark. Pushing Captain Carl Smith at the left tackle post is Duane Miller, Davis; Ralph Embury, Weber Junior College; Terry Peterson, Ricks Junior College; and Rullell Naylor, Logan. In Howard Shurtz, Bear River; Bill Whitesides, Davis, and Charles Clark, Weber Junior College, Coach Romney has three returning lettermen. They will be backed up by such stalwarts as Alton Mollerup, East High, Salt Lake City; Lynn Lunt, transfer from Branch Agricultural College, and John Peterson, Cyprus. Seth Maughn, South Cache, has two more years' eligibility and will be hard to outclass in the signal calling department. Louis Toschi, of San Francisco, and Wally Braegger are returning lettermen and able field generals, giving Seth most of his competition. Melvin Manning, of Bear River, is a sophomore with a great many possibilities and will also see a great deal of action before the season is over. Mike Stipac, senior and returning letterman from Tooele, seems to have the edge over Verne Bennion, Jordan, and Fred Bohman, Morgan, both juniors and lettermen. From the freshmen ranks, Fank Moyes, Box Elder, and Sammy Orme, Tooele, are very much in the running and may get the nod over the lettermen before many games have been played. The all-important left halfback spot is being held down by Frank Olsen, Ogden; Marvin Bell, Lava Hot Springs, Idaho; and Earl Winger, Preston, Idaho, all sophomores. Olsen, with his speed and size, seems to have the inside track at present.

Lawrence Slater, Tooele, seems to be hitting his stride this year and will be hard to compete with for the fullback position. James Paulos, Tooele, and Demont Walker, South Cache, both juniors, are excellent reserves.

The team will be rather light compared with other teams in the conference, but with such a spirit as the squad members have, some upsets are in store for opposing teams.

FIELD HOUSE

The much dreamed of field house is now completed and being occupied by the athletic department. It will be open for inspection by graduates and former students returning to the annual Homecoming celebration on October 28. The building is three hundred and thirty-seven feet long and has a seating capacity of fifty-six hundred. All basketball games will be played there from now on. It houses an eighth of a mile track, a one hundred yard straight-away, and space for football workouts during bad weather. Handball courts, offices, team and shower rooms are also available.

Accept Coaching Positions

John Broberg, '39, will coach at Hamer, Idaho, during the coming school year.

Jay "Cotton" Tolman, '34, accepted the position of Athletic Director at Dixie Junior College and will handle six man and eleven man football. Jay has been at Delta High School during the past three years where he achieved a great deal of success with his basketball and football teams.

Rex Hunsaker, '35, is coaching at Downey, Idaho, this year. He coached at Inkom, Idaho, in 1938-39.

Deceased

A great loss was suffered by the L. D. S. church, the State of Utah, and the Nation on July 30, when Elder Melvin J. Ballard of the quorum of Twelve of the L. D. S. church died in a Salt Lake City hospital, from an illness that had caused him poor health for over a year.

Elder Ballard was born in Logan, February 9, 1876, the son of Henry and Margaret McNeil Ballard. As a youth he grew up in Logan, attended the grade school here and the various church auxiliaries. He later attended the Brigham Young College from which he graduated in 1894. He taught music at the Brigham Young College, following his graduation, and then later became interested in business affairs of Logan.

He spent two years as a missionary in the Northern States mission. Later he served as President of the Northwestern States mission, which he developed into one of the most outstanding missions in the church.

In January 1919, Elder Ballard was called to become a member of the quorum of Twelve. Since that time he has visited various places on the American continent. He was highly respected for his sincerity, enthusiasm, and leadership ability. He was an eloquent speaker, and was heard at various College and High School exercises throughout the state. At the time of his death, Elder Ballard was a member of the College Board of Trustees, a position which he filled capably and well for a number of years.

Funeral services for Elder Ballard were conducted in the Salt Lake Tabernacle by President Heber J. Grant. The large building was filled to capacity with friends and admirers of Elder Ballard. Speakers were President Grant and his counselors, J. Reuben Clark Jr., and David O. McKay; George Albert Smith, and Dr. Richard R. Lyman, members of the council of Twelve Apostles. Music for the services was furnished by the Tabernacle Choir.

Elder Ballard is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mattie Jones Ballard; three daughters, Mrs. R. W. Madsen and Mrs. James F. Keyser, Salt Lake City; and Mrs. Dale Snow of Washington, D. C.; four sons, M. R. Ballard, Rulon J. Ballard, and L. M. Ballard, Salt Lake City, and McNeil Ballard of Dallas, Texas.

ALUMNI DIRECTORY

In the Alumni Council meeting, held June 4th, members present thought it would be an excellent idea for the Association to publish a directory of all graduates. Methods of financing the publication were discussed and the group decided that a directory would cost a good deal of money. Lacking sufficient capital to support such an undertaking, a vote was cast upon a motion to include in each issue of the Quarterly a list of the graduates by class.

This issue includes all classes from '94 to '21. We have tried to give the correct name, married name, address and occupation wherever possible. We realize that some mistakes undoubtedly have occurred. We in the office would greatly appreciate any correction that you might have or any address of those unknown. If all four issues are saved and bound, a rather complete directory of graduates from '94 to '39 can be yours.
